

A crime like no other

Three days ago, on Saturday evening a woman was drinking alcohol in her room . She had money under the fireplace*. The woman was a criminal with a lot of money. Suddenly* a man entered the room with a gun in his left hand. He said : « Give me your money now ! »

But the woman knew how to fight. She took her red shoe in the chest* next to the bed and she threw* it at the man. The man dodged the shoe, he was irritated and fired a shot at the table. The table fell on the floor and the glass broke. Behind the clock there was a knife. She stabbed* the attacker. He died and dropped of her knife on the floor. She took the body, and put him on the bed. The woman took her money and opened the window, caught* the rope and left the room.
