

LORD WATSON AND THE MYSTERIOUS WOMAN.

Three days ago, on Saturday evening Lord Walton was going back home with a mysterious woman.

She was tall, slim and blonde. Lord Walton invited her to take off her shoes.

He prepared a romantic dinner with a wine, they were getting in the bed,

when suddenly

the young woman knocked over* the table and took out a gun. Lord Walton was panicked, he took the knife to protect himself.

But it was too late, she had shot* him.

A bullet bounced off the clock, knocking it onto the floor*.

She then approached and was surprised to find a safe* containing money.

But what she did not know the neighbour* who had heard the shot had already called the police.

Nobody saw her again

knocked over : renverser

Safe: coffre-fort

she had shot: elle lui a tiré dessus

knocking it onto the floor : ce qui la fit tomber sur le sol

neighbour: voisin

