

The story of Nelson Mandela

On tuesday 7th of June, we went to 'Cité Des Arts' by bus around 1pm to watch a play whose title is 'Prisoner 46664 Nelson Mandela'.

It's our teacher Miss Louafi who took us there.

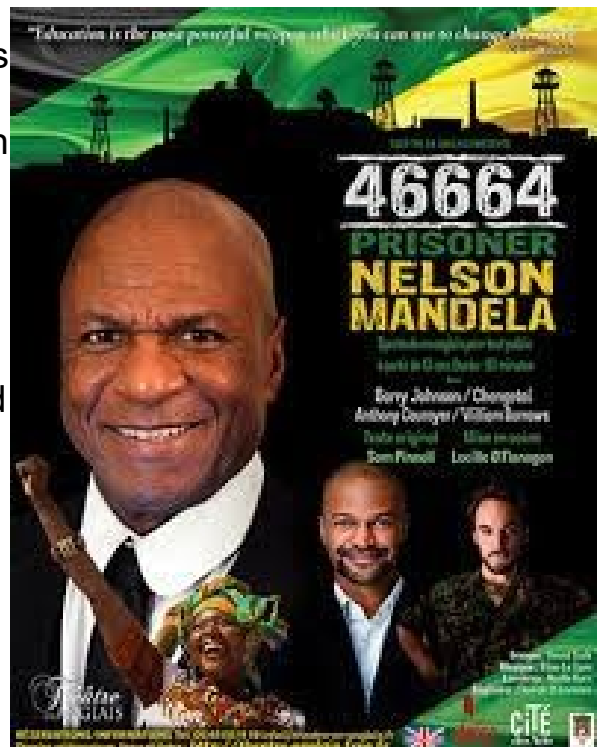

There were a lot of students from high schools and secondary schools.

We learnt more about the story of Nelson Mandela.

When he was young, his name was changed because he had to have an english name.

During his life, he was confronted to a lot of injustice. He was in jail because he was against the law and against Apartheid in South of Africa. He got married with Winnie and had children.

In 1994, he became the President of South Africa.

The actors were very funny and cool and they were four: a woman and three men.

These actors came from different countries and they all had a very good english although some were not english.

At the end of the play, we could ask some questions to the actors so we could learn how they became actors or how much time they had to learn the text.
